

Introduction to Programming

IT - 502 - A | Online Asynchronous

Winter/Spring: 1/10/24 - 5/10/24

Instructor Information

Michael Glass

Email: Michael.Glass@valpo.edu

Phone Number: 219-464-5161

Office Location

122A Gellersen

Office Hours

Arrange with instructor, I can zoom with people as needed

Additional Information

(As an online async class, office hours would be odd.)

Course Details

IT 502

Course Description: Cr. 3. A first course in problem-solving through algorithm development and analysis and software design. Students design and write elementary and intermediate sized programs, including intensive study of Java or other programming language(s) of similar scale and complexity. An introduction to the best practices for professional/ industry grade programming is included.

Course Credits: 3.00

Course Pre-requisite(s): None

Instructional Method: Online asynchronous.

Class Meeting Days, Times, and Locations: None.

Associated Course Fees: None.

Estimated Time on Tasks: 5 to 10 hours per week

Textbook(s), Other Readings, and Materials
